Another light frost this morning, it being at least the second or third one this winter.

A liberal reward will be paid by the paragraphs' union, for information leading to just a word or two from Henry Lehr

King Edward made a visit to Berlin the other day, and while there, of course called on the Kaiser. When the two rulers met, they repeatedly kissed each other, so the report says. Unless they got a shave since they last faced a camera, we imagine they were tickled.

Some of the papers in the State are expecting Dr. Cunningham to announce in the race for Governor W. D. Seed and H. S. D. Mallory, so far, are the only outspoken candidates, but this situation will likely be changed before the leaves on the trees get being enough to make shade.

People who keep money stored away in iron safes will please take notice. The other day a man thought it might be a good idea to put his spare cash in a safe, and then to make it doubly safe, he tied a choice bull dog to it. Later, burglars entered and blew open the safe, probably without trying the lock, and took $300 in cash—and then stole the dog—making good their escape.

Taft will have $12,000 worth of automobiles at his command, and out of the machines which this sum will buy, it is likely that he will have at least one machine in running order all the time. It has been suggested that the congress which takes up the matter of supplying Taft's successor with conveyances, will have to dicker with the air ship builders.

SOME COTTON YET.

In conversation with a Dothan citizen this week, who has just returned from a canvass over the county, we learn that there is considerable cotton of last year's growth yet to be seen stacked up under the shade of the farmers.

This cotton is generally in small lots, from one bale to half a dozen together. This is a good sign, for it is safe to conclude when a man has cotton out to sell, that he is out of debt.

This gentleman also remarked that he had never seen as much land broken as he noted on this trip. He estimated that three-fourths of the ground to be planted this year, in the county, has been spending some time with broken preparatory to spring planting.

How Messina Was Warned.

Current Literature.

Signs of the approach of this catastrophe had not been obscure. Warning had not been given of the impending danger by abnormal atmospheric conditions, it is true. There had been no electrical tension in the air. But a general distemperature, says the correspondent of the Paris Temps, "reigned on susceptible organization." All through the day and night before the nervous were peculiarly wrought up. There was a half hour interval on the eve of the original shock when the birds, the dogs and the cattle evinced intense agitation. Horses neighed loudly at their stalls. The howling of the dogs was noticed aboard the ships at anchor.

SCRATCH-PAD REFLECTIONS.

In these strenuous days it is necessary to catch opportunity on the fly in order to succeed

It is noted that the man who can tell all about how to win a woman wouldn't attract one as far as across the room

Of course people who brag on their ancestors realize that they can't come back to repudiate their posterity

The man who fools away his time can tell you how everybody else is losing the best sort of opportunities

Everybody will soon be glad to receive an invitation to attend the coming-out party of Miss Spring

You meet people every day who persist in keeping on on friendly terms with the mother tongue in spite of the latter's will ingness to make concessions

Smoo women pick out a husband apparently for the express purpose of letting a rival get him

The baby never said onehalf of what goes to its credit

Fate has a way of playing tricks on those who undertake to get familiar with her

The polished man is often held up as an example of the flatterer

An honest man will take no short cuts and other liberties with the truth

Some people can actually make money out of manufacturing excuses.

When a girl stares at a man in a street car it may be because she is curious to know whether he has enough politeness to get up and offer her a seat.

Some people simply shovel in trouble by persisting in calling a spade a spade.

As a rule the man who has absolutely no excuse for getting drunk will demand all kinds of credit for staying sober.

Don't lean on conclusions until you take a good running start of reason.

Did you ever notice how few sympathizers the self-righteous have when they once make a misstep.

Most men think they have the finest judgment in the world about what other people ought to do.

A good many people have the time of their life during the small hours.

Some folk pretend to be ignorant so as to find out just how big a fool the other fellow is

A good many men learn to save their earnings only after they have had a touch of hunger

The trouble about the average self-made man is that he seems to think everybody ought to give him a chrono for having half completed the job

There wouldn't be half so much prejudice against the automobile if owners would show any regard for the rights and safety of people who haven't got one.

People can get a license to marry without the slightest qualifications to fill the job R O H

REPORT OF COUNTRY LIFE COMMISSION
The report of the Country Life Commission was transmitted to message which was attached thereto

In his message of transmission the president says that the work of the commission was done with out a dollar of cost to the government and points out the larger problems and indicates the way in which the national and state governments may help the people to solve these problems. A continuance of the commission is recommended.

The President points out some things that are wrong. He says: "Lack of knowledge on the part of farmers of the exact agricultural conditions and possibilities of their regions."

Lack of good training for country life in the schools.

Handicap of the farmer against established business systems and interests preventing him from securing adequate returns for his products depriving him of benefits on unmonopolized rivers, conservation of forests and keeping him from valuable agricultural land held for speculative purposes.

Lack of good roads. Widespread depletion of soils with injurious effect on rural life. General need of new and active leadership.

Lack of adequate system of agricultural credit shortage of labor complicated by intemperance among laborers lack of institutions and incentives to keep farming men on farms. burdened and narrow farm life of women lack of adequate supervision of public health.

How to Right Them

A national system of extension work thru land grant colleges with the people at homes and farms. Investigation of middleman system of handling farm products together with farmers' disadvantages as to taxation transportation rates co-operative organizations and credit.

Inquiry into control of stream in country to protect people in ownership and saving by agricultural uses.

Establishing of a government highway system, service to be rendered in road building. Parcel post and postal savings banks. development of rural society. ear fulfilment to legislation directly beneficial to the farmer. reduction of interstate shipment of in toxicants into div communities.

A Pearl Lost in the Sea

Why mourn for the hours that have vanished
Why grieve for the things that are lost?
Why weep for the flowers in summer
That bloom beneath the cold winter's frost?
Can we make them stand still or turn backward?
Or revive the faded rose to the leaf?
We might just as well try to go searching
For a pearl that is lost in the sea.

Why cherish a dream that is ended?
Why look down the vista of years
But to suffer a long buried sorrow
To open the wound with new tears
It is over—forget it, as you please
(No matter how anxious we be
To try to go back and recover
A pearl that is lost in the sea.)

Why grieve today with regret
What might have been had we but known?

Why long for the much beloved music
After the singer has flown?

Will all the regrets and longings
Avail against Fate's stern decree?

Ah, no, for the past and its chances
Are like pearls that are lost in the sea!

Why waste precious moments in thinking
Of scenes that are beautiful then?

Why linger o'er graves that hold treasures
That never will return to us again?

Why wish for our youth and its gladness
When from sorrow and care
We were free?

When his gone from our grasp

gone forever

As a pearl that is lost in the sea!

A WELL-KNOWN SCORE

An old plasterer is called upon to give evidence for the plaintiff in a case. An opinion counsel for the defendant tries to bully him. Have you ever been in prison?

Yes, twice.

And how long the first time?

Only one hour.

And pray what offense had you committed to deserve so small a punishment?

TAFT TO ARRIVE IN NEW ORLEANS TODAY

On Board U. S. S. North Carolina Feb. 10, via New Orleans. After being out from Colon, Panama, barely three days the armored cruisers North Carolina and Montana conveying President Taft and his party on the return trip home dropped anchor tonight in the Gulf off the Mississippi River passage.

The scout cruiser Birmingham and the light house tender Magnolia were lying in the harbor when the Montana and North Carolina hove in sight.

At 8 o'clock tomorrow morning the Magnolia will draw alongside the two cruisers and then the President Taft and the members of his party to the Birmingham on which the trip up the Mississippi River to New Orleans.

A northerly blow this morning was the first heavy weather encountered by President Taft and party while making the return trip from the Mississippi River to New Orleans. On the whole the weather has been unusually pleasant.

All is ready aboard the North Carolina for the transfer to the scout cruiser Birmingham on which the trip will be made up the Mississippi River to New Orleans. J. Edgar Taft will spend two days in New Orleans and then proceed to Cincinnati.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

The County Commissioners here began in session all of this week and are still deliberating over the County's affairs today.

About all they have done which is of general interest to the people was the election of the County Physician, election of County At-Torney and the order to fix the courthouse clock.

Dr. W. J. Blackson was named County Physician and E. J. and Farmer were appointed attorneys for the County.

The Board ordered that the clock of the courthouse be put in repair and a man was appointed to look after it and keep it in good order and see that it keeps good time and strikes the hour correctly.

The matter of light in the courthouse was deferred to next meeting of the board. It was necessary to make some further inquiry upon the subject.

As one of the weight wires of the clock will have to be replaced with a new one, it will require some days to get it out and put it in place.

The amount of money turned over to the treasurer amounting to twenty thousand dollars, with two hundred and a thousand additional of fines and rectory money.
